Jax Wright's world was turned upside down at the age of ten after a brazen attempt to avoid the lash of a father's belt turned into the most horrific thing he'd ever witnessed. Not only was Jax emotionally shattered by the tragic accident, but he was sentenced to eight years in a juvenile detention facility. Upon his release, the now eighteen-year-old Jax realizes his only option is to put the past behind him and make a new life for himself. As Jax begins his struggle with the fear that accompanies adjusting to life on the outside, he's suddenly faced with a far more daunting challenge, as there's someone who's been watching and waiting during his incarceration, her ire growing stronger daily, intent on making him remember the past by making his future as close to hell on earth as possible.

Jax's grim tormentor, known only as "Brenda," uses a highly unorthodox method to thrust him into a treacherous journey that has him darting back and forth across the country, with very little time to spare and the police and FBI hot on his trail, to save the ones he loves most, including his best friend and father figure, a corrections officer from Juvenile Hall, and thousands of other innocent strangers, from unimaginably horrific deaths. Brenda's twisted "game" will either send Jax to his early grave or end in his ultimate redemption and, he hopes, a reunion with his family, who left him heartbroken and alone during his greatest moment of crisis.

Ethel Springer:

As a college student exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or even make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's heart or real their interest. They just do what the educator want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and also can't see colorful pics on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever you want. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Brenda can make you truly feel more interested to read.
